Olivia Lohmeier of Cincinnati, Ohio, was selected as the commencement speaker representing the Elmer R. Smith College of Business and Technology. She is the daughter of Marty and Doug Lohmeier. She graduated with a 3.94 cumulative GPA and earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Information Systems Area.

A member of MSU's volleyball team and beach volleyball team, Lohmeier was recently honored as one of six Ohio Valley Conference (OVC) Scholar-Athletes for 2020, the highest individual honor for a conference student-athlete. She was also honored in the 2019-20 academic year as the Elmer R. Smith College of Business and Technology Outstanding Computer Information Systems Student of the Year. She has been a multi-year selection to the OVC's Commissioner's Honor Roll and the Dean's List while also earning multiple OVC Academic Medals of Honor.

Lohmeier is a member of the MSU volleyball leadership team and a volleyball representative on the core leadership team of Athletes in Action (AIA). She's also volunteered for numerous off and on-campus events, including Better Life Church, College Night, Freshman Move-In and numerous youth clinics.

A First Team All-OVC selection for two straight seasons, she ranked Top 25 in the NCAA in five statistical categories in 2019, including ranking seventh in the country in total points and eighth in total kills. Her 564 kills marked an MSU junior class record and tallied the fourth highest single-season total in program history. She was the OVC Volleyball Player of the Year in 2018 and has now earned eight OVC Player of the Week honors in the past two seasons. She was also named MSU's Miss Eagle for 2018, the highest honor for a female student-athlete at MSU. As a member of the beach volleyball team, she also owns the career record for flight victories with 27 and set the single-season flight victory record with 17 in 2019.

The University Mace

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England when a person bearing a mace, a formidable weapon, walked in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions, to protect him or her from personal injury.

As adapted by European and American universities, the mace has become a symbol of office to the institution's president and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. At Morehead State, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award.

The mace of Morehead State University was fashioned from Eastern Kentucky walnut in 1984 by John S. VanHoose, a retired faculty member from the Department of Industrial Education and Technology.

Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduation exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with "trailing elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material such as velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the University faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities - white

Commerce, Accountancy, Business - drab

Education - light blue

Engineering - orange

Fine Arts - brown

Journalism - crimson

Law - purple

Library Science - lemon

Medicine - green

Music - pink

Nursing - apricot

Philosophy - dark blue

Physical Education - sage green

Science - golden yellow

Social Science - cream

Theology - scarlet

Veterinary Science - gray
