Morehead State University values the contribution of experiential education to student learning. In these uncertain times, we seek to provide flexibility to students who wish to engage in experiential education for academic credit. As always, students and employers must demonstrate that course learning objectives can be met through the internship experience in order to be approved. Students are strongly encouraged to seek remote internships if at all possible, but in-person experiential education may be permissible under some conditions as outlined below.

In-person experiential education

In order for an in-person internship to be approved, students and employers must be able to provide a safe environment for students to learn and work. Below are the criteria to be addressed:

1. Is 6 feet of distance maintained between employees in the workplace?
2. Are employees required to wear Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)? Does the placement site provide this equipment, or is the student required to provide his/her own?
3. Is hand hygiene supported with hand sanitizer, gloves, and/or frequent washing?
4. Are all frequently touched surfaces routinely being cleaned and disinfected?
5. Are employees regularly monitored for signs of illness (e.g., temperature taken, testing available, etc.)?

I also understand that if the pandemic continues and the conditions at the approved internship site change so that these mitigation practices are no longer possible or are no longer followed, the in-person internship should be halted. Please continue to communicate with your faculty member regarding your situation.

If this internship includes in-person/on-site components, I _____ agree to follow COVID-19 guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), including the wearing of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) as well as all other health and safety protocols required by the employer and by local, state, and/or federal regulations.
