

Promoting Positive Behavior Training

The Kentucky Department of Education has developed online training modules: Promoting Positive Behavior in Schools produced by KET and made available through PBS TeacherLine, addressing the KAR7:160 regulation requirements. This is a free training and you will not incur any cost, and the completion of these training modules satisfies this requirement. The User's Guide will provide instructions for enrolling in the free online course. (Note: Some individuals have experienced difficulty in attempting to access the modules when not completing all modules in one setting, and have found it necessary to create a new password each time when attempting to access the online course.)

The training modules can be accessed through the link below:

After completing the four modules you must save the certificate that verifies that you have completed the training.
